Mark is a tax partner and head of Osler's Tax Group in Montréal, where he also leads the firm's Private Client Group.

As a trusted advisor on highly complex and sophisticated tax matters, he is recognized nationally and internationally for his expertise in corporate reorganizations, M&A tax planning, high-stakes tax disputes, and intricate private client matters.

Mark is recognized by leading legal and tax rankings, including Chambers, which ranks him in both Corporate Tax and Private Client, where he holds a Band 1 recognition. He is also a Fellow of ACTEC and an academician of the IAETL.

A distinguished leader in the tax community, Mark served as Chair of the Board of Governors of the Canadian Tax Foundation, the country's preeminent organization for tax professionals, in 2019. He is co-editor of the Corporate Tax Planning feature of the Canadian Tax Journal and Editor-in-Chief of the Corporate Groups & Structures Journal published by Thomson Reuters.

Mark is an active member of the Joint Committee on Taxation of the Canadian Bar Association and CPA Canada, contributing to national tax policy development. He received the Douglas J. Sherbaniuk Distinguished Writing Award for his analysis of subsection 55(2), a cornerstone anti-avoidance rule that is central to private and public company reorganizations, spin-offs, and other complex corporate structuring.
