Tiffany is an associate in Osler's disputes group. She maintains a general civil and commercial litigation practice. Tiffany is a graduate of the J.D. program at Osgoode Hall Law School. Prior to attending law school, Tiffany conducted scientific research in ovarian cancer and reproductive health. Tiffany also worked in the public health sector addressing public health crises and concerns. During law school, Tiffany served as the Co-President of the Asian Law Students Association, an executive member of the Osgoode Women's Network, and a Dean's Fellow for property law. Tiffany also worked as a student caseworker at legal aid clinics, helping clients address and resolve disputes related to housing, health, and disability.

Prior to joining Osler, Tiffany completed an internship in legal innovation, technology, and pricing at a national law firm. Tiffany joined the firm as a summer student in 2021 and completed her articles with the firm from 2022-2023.
