Navigating a Complex, Evolving Landscape

As the size and stakes of tax disputes increase, access to strategic and experienced tax law counsel is imperative in mitigating the impact of tax controversy and litigation. We work closely with our clients' business and legal teams to provide focused and strategic advice to help our clients avoid debilitating tax payments and penalties – especially in “bet the company” controversies. Our clients benefit from our considerable experience in proactively managing and resolving audit and appeal disputes with the CRA, as well as, our in-depth knowledge of the Income Tax Act. While we work with clients to avoid going to court whenever possible, Osler litigators have successfully represented clients in several of the most significant tax litigation cases in Canada.

Osler's strategic focus, and the depth and breadth of our experience, is invaluable to our clients. We advise on the full range of contentious tax issues including:

- Transfer pricing
- The general anti-avoidance rule in the federal and provincial context
- Computation of profit
- Goods and services tax
- Interest deductibility
- Treaty interpretation
- Corporate reorganizations
- Corporate control
- Shareholder and employee benefits
- Deductibility of settlement payments and other types of expenses
- Foreign tax credits
- Meaning of inventory
- Residence for tax purposes
- A range of administrative and procedural tax matters (including requirement letters, access to information and privilege related issues)

Counsel to Corporate Canada on Landmark and Complex Cases of National Importance

GENERAL ANTI-AVOIDANCE RULE (GAAR)

Successful representation of Canada Trustco Mortgage Co. before the Supreme Court of Canada (SCC) in the leading decision referred to by all levels of court in interpreting the GAAR.

Successful representation of Oxford Properties Group in its appeal to the Tax Court of Canada (TCC), which held that GAAR is not applicable to deny the bump to the adjusted cost base of partnership interests.

Successful representation of Veracity Capital Corporation in its appeal to the British Columbia Court of Appeal regarding the Minister's application of provincial GAAR on taxable income resulting from a "Q-Yes" plan.

Successful representation of Husky Energy before the Court of Queen's Bench of Alberta (upheld by the Alberta Court of Appeal) in connection with the application of the Alberta provincial GAAR regime to interprovincial tax planning.

Successful representation of Inter-Leasing Inc. before the Ontario Court of Appeal (which reversed the Ontario Superior Court) that the Ontario GAAR did not apply to a "finco" transaction (similar to that in Husky Energy). On March 5, 2015, the Supreme Court of Canada dismissed the Ontario Minister of Revenue's application for leave to appeal.

TRANSFER PRICING

Successful representation of GlaxoSmithKline before the SCC where, in a unanimous decision, the SCC articulated the proper approach to determining appropriate arm's length prices in Canadian law.

Osler successfully argued the leading GAAR case heard before the SCC.

Osler leads the way on provincial GAAR litigation.

Osler successfully argued the leading transfer pricing case before the SCC.

Osler successfully argued the first case to apply the current transfer pricing regime.

Successful representation of Cameco Corporation before the TCC. This is the first case to consider the interpretation and application of the transfer pricing “re-characterization” rules in paragraphs 247(2)(b) & (d). The Tax Court rejected all three bases of support for the CRA’s reassessments.

Representation of Wheaton Precious Metals in the successful resolution of its transfer pricing dispute with the CRA. The dispute was also a “re-characterization” case and was one of the most significant transfer pricing appeals in Canada.

Successful representation of Sifto Canada Corp in its appeal in the TCC, in which the Court rejected the Minister’s arguments that a competent authority agreement was not binding on the tax authorities.

Successful representation of General Electric Capital Canada before the Federal Court of Appeal on the issue of whether the guarantee fee to the taxpayer’s U.S. parent exceeded an arm’s length price.

RESOURCE INDUSTRY

The Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers (CAPP) intervened at the SCC in Daishowa-Marubeni, a case dealing with the assumption of reclamation obligations. In overturning the lower courts, the SCC expressly accepted CAPP’s submission that a statutory interpretation promoting symmetry and fairness is to be preferred over one that promotes neither.

Successful representation of Devon Canada Corporation before the TCC to dispose of a question of law on a pre-trial basis. This case concerned the limitations on the deduction of resource expenditures in the context of a two-tiered partnership. The “successor rules” in question had never previously been interpreted by a court.

INTERNATIONAL TAX

Successful representation of TD Securities (USA) LLC before the TCC where the Court overturned the long-established position of the CRA under which LLCs that are fiscally transparent for U.S. tax purposes were denied eligibility for benefits under the Canada-US treaty.

CAPP chose Osler to intervene on behalf of industry before the SCC.

GST / HST

Successful appeal on behalf of CIBC World Markets Inc., establishing that GST registrants are entitled to revise their claims for input tax credits within the applicable limitation period. Where a method is used to apportion GST for purposes of input tax credits, a change to the method within the limitation period is permitted, where the revised method fulfills the statutory requirements.

JUDICIAL REVIEW

Successful representation of RBC Life Insurance Company where the Federal Court (decision upheld on appeal to the FCA) held that the Minister of National Revenue's third-party requirements were invalid as the Minister failed to make full disclosure in obtaining an ex parte order; and that the Minister's primary goal was to "chill" the "10-8" life insurance business.

Osler tax lawyers persuaded the courts that the Minister's third party requirements were issued improperly.
